

Countering Radicalisation for a Safer World

Privacy-first situational awareness platform for violent terrorism and crime prediction, counter radicalisation and citizen protection

1° Webinar Counter Project 20 April 2022

Findings from D2.1 Social factors of the radicalisation process

Barbara Lucini – Barbara Vettori – UCSC Catholic University of Sacred Heart, Milan.

This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under grant agreement No. 101021607

Social Factors of the radicalisation process

Radicalisation is a complex and constantly changing social phenomenon.

The main objective of these research activities is to understand which social factors play a role in radicalisation processes.

Social Factors of the radicalisation process

Theoretical framework

Radicalisation process and the current extremism threats.

Social Factors of the radicalisation process

Methodological framework

1. Methodological focus on the analysis of past projects Globsec and Trivalent;
2. Methodological focus on the collection of TRA-Is;
3. Methodological focus on the literature review.

Social Factors of the radicalisation process

Key findings

- Macro trends in radicalization research: emerging issues
- How research on terrorism is advancing
- From literature review to practical tools: findings from the TRA-I analysis

A man in a dark suit, white shirt, and dark tie is standing in a meeting room, gesturing with his right hand. He is wearing glasses. In the background, there are several large monitors displaying maps and data. The entire image is overlaid with a semi-transparent blue filter. A large blue horizontal bar is positioned across the middle of the image, containing the text 'Thank you' and 'counter-project.eu'.

Thank you

counter-project.eu